Help

Find a Partner

Please make use of the Find a Partner feature on our web site. Once you have established a login to the site you will notice a number of additional features. Only members can see these requests. This means you are not making your contact details public, thus inviting SPAM.

There is a guide here.

RealBridge Archive

The link you were sent for the RealBridge game also archives the event. If you need to find this link again try these two methods. Once you open an archive you can replay the hands.

Making a Claim

We welcome players 'claiming' but please remember to select the number of tricks when you claim.

From the Player Guide <https://realbridge.online/player-guide.html>

Either declarer or a defender can claim some or all of the remaining tricks. Click the Claim button, then select the number of tricks that you are claiming. Just as in face-to-face bridge, you should state your line of play at the same time as your claim.

After you have claimed as declarer, both defenders are prompted to accept or reject your claim. If they both accept, the result is recorded and the deal ends. If either defender rejects the claim, the platform displays a message saying that the claim has been rejected. After a rejection, you should call the director to adjudicate the claim, or claim again (perhaps for a different number of tricks), or if everyone agrees you can also play on.

If a defender claims, both declarer and the other defender are prompted to accept or reject the claim. (This is because a defender is allowed under Law 68B2 to object to his partner's claim.)

If play continues after a claim, the non-claiming side can see all four hands.

Technical support for RealBridge

If none of the suggestions below help please contact support@realbridge.online for assistance.
